Notes

Steven Kennedy is primarily an actor though he also has credits as a producer, director, writer, voice over artist, songwriter and public orator and is also a civil marriage celebrant.

In 2013 he founded his own company Theaterotica. Taking on the roles of Artistic Director, Producer, Director and Actor he created two seasons of Monorotica a series of comedic monologues, poems and songs with adult themes. He also directed the sound design, penned one of the monologues and wrote the finale song.

Other stage productions include Tinkertown, Revengers Comedy, Three Sisters, Babes in the Woods, Bullshot Crummond, Grapes of Wrath, Summer of the Seventeenth Doll and Loot.

Feature films include the Burning Ships independent feature Plague, Any Questions for Ben with Working Dog and Bound by Blue with Think Boy Think.

He has appeared in the television series The time of Their lives, Bryne: My Bedazzled Life, Mrs Biggs and City Homicide.

Since 2008 he has collaborated with Sydney electronic music producer Bumble, writing and recording voice content with environmental themes. Together they have released 5 albums and countless festival "sets".

Most recently Steven has been involved in a project to address the sustainability culture of large outdoor music festivals in Australia, most notably the Rainbow Serpent Festival. Orating to audiences of up to 8,000 on waste management and sustainability.
